

2023 CRAIN'S NOTABLE WOMEN IN LAW

IN THIS 2023 LIST OF NOTABLE WOMEN IN LAW, Crain's recognizes leading female attorneys in New York who are furthering justice and keeping the cogs of commerce spinning.

More than a third of America's lawyers today are women—but of course, it was not always that way. In the decades since Kate Stoneman (1841-1925) became New York's first female attorney in 1886, women have contributed immeasurably to the legal profession, excelling in their work but also leveraging the law to promote fairness and provide aid. Crain's sought to highlight lawyers of this genre: Women at the pinnacle of their profession whose impact radiates well beyond the clients they serve.

The 100 lawyers who grace this list work in a range of legal arenas, from labor and employment to real estate and intellectual property. You'll read about attorneys who have achieved precedent-setting victories in all areas of the law, representing prominent clients ranging from Verizon to Kenneth Cole, from the United Federation of Teachers to Jay-Z. You'll also meet people who volunteer their time helping immigrants applying for asylum, serving economically disadvantaged communities, and mentoring young female lawyers and people from underrepresented groups.

To qualify, candidates needed to serve in a senior-level role at a law firm in the New York City metro area and have at least a decade of experience. We also looked for individuals who have performed consequential legal or pro bono work, served as mentors, promoted inclusivity and assumed leadership roles in civic or philanthropic endeavors.

Sasha Rosenthal-Larrea

Partner
Cravath, Swaine & Moore

Elected partner in 2018 at Cravath, Swaine & Moore, corporate lawyer Sasha Rosenthal-Larrea has represented and advised clients including Johnson & Johnson, Valvoline and Biogen. Rosenthal-Larrea serves as a partner liaison to both the Hispanic and LGBTQIA+ affinity groups, where she mentors associates and serves as a resource on inclusion-related matters. She is also her firm's liaison for Her Justice, a nonprofit that recruits volunteer lawyers to provide free legal help to women living in poverty in New York City. Rosenthal-Larrea is a member of the American Intellectual Property Law Association and advises the Center for Global Enterprise's Data and Trust Alliance.

Margaret Segall

Partner
Cravath, Swaine & Moore

Margaret Segall, a partner at the law firm Cravath, Swaine & Moore, has been dubbed an "antitrust superstar" by Benchmark Litigation. Her antitrust practice includes more than $600 billion in proposed or completed transactions, including leading AerCap Holdings on antitrust issues for its $30 billion acquisition of GE Capital Aviation Services from General Electric. Segall is active in Cravath's recruiting program and is a member of the firm's partner/associate mentorship program. In addition to authoring and editing chapters for antitrust publications, Segall also speaks on antitrust issues at events such as the American Bar Association's Antitrust In-House Institute and its Antitrust in Healthcare Conference.

CRAVATH, SWAINE & MOORE LLP